

#2

Maria Deltoro

Oct. 13, 2011

I felt terrified by the ship that were coming, when Columbus landed I wondered why he had come, I wondered if he was bad which I thought he was, why he would not leave scared me more, when he landed he put something into the ground, I wondered why he did that for. I tried to tell the others not to welcome him because he looks mean and like a bad person but, would they listen to me, no! They said I was just a boy and didn't know anything. Also they said that they were supposed to welcome other men to their lands, I didn't feel happy about that thought. After a while I started to believe they were nice, but I changed my mind after I saw their weapons. I tried to warn everyone after I saw the weapons but they still would not listen. They still said I was a child who didn't know much. Columbus kidnapped some of us to teach us Spanish. That's all they wanted to do. I felt terrible

About that and I knew I could be next. He kidnapped me and a few others and he took us to a place
I didn't recognize.