To Whom It May Concern:

Ms. Strug was my seventh grade Social Studies teacher during the fall of 2011.

Ms. Strug was a great teacher. She would explain things, but she would also let us think about stuff, too. It wasn't like she was giving us the answers, but she helped us. I have learned lots of things with Ms. Strug, and I really think you should consider her for the teaching position. She has helped me understand concepts better. She also made sure we knew both sides of the story, which helped us understand deeper why historical events such as wars occurred.

Sincerely,
Rosie Thale
